DEAR DANCERS AND FAMILIES,

I have enjoyed the opportunity to lead you all through the 2021 Sleeping Beauty production. As I gain some perspective on this spring show, I find myself truly grateful that we have been able to be together at the studio and to finally perform once again. Although this year has given us plenty of hurdles to jump, you have all persevered and your work ethic this season has brought us here to this moment.

As artists, we do what we can to create truth, beauty, and goodness in whatever medium we create in. The tedious work of learning the steps, waiting patiently for your turn, staying focused and in the present during the rehearsals, turns to a phase of developing characters, building deep friendships and bonds, creating respect amongst your peers, and looking forward to the opportunity to perform your role.

As COVID has shaped our past year, with two of our past productions being canceled, I can't help but feel a sense of newness as we step out onto the stage. "Toi toi toi" to all of our dancers! Thank you to your families for providing the amazing support and opportunity for you to enjoy this spring performance season..

Your Director,

Stephen Sanford

THE STORY OF THE SLEEPING BEAUTY

ACT I Once upon a time, a beautiful princess was born. Her parents named her Aurora and invite all the fairies of the land to her christening, except the evil fairy Carabosse. To everyone's horror, Carabosse arrives at the ceremony anyway. Angry that she was not invited, Carabosse places an evil curse on baby Aurora: when she is sixteen years old, she will prick her finger and die. Fortunately, the good and wise Lilac Fairy is also at the christening. Although she cannot remove the curse completely, she is powerful enough to change it! She declares that when the princess pricks her finger, she will not die, but instead fall asleep for one hundred years. The Lilac Fairy adds that a handsome Prince can awaken Aurora with a kiss.

The years passed peacefully and on Aurora's sixteenth birthday, the King and Queen throw Aurora a wonderful party. Princes travel from afar to join the celebration and each Prince at the party presents her with a rose in a dance called the Rose Adagio. Men and women of the court and villagers attend the celebration.

Delighted, Aurora shows her gratitude by dancing for the guests. But then, the powerful Carabosse stops time at the birthday party and her Minions entice Aurora to the palace tower. Mesmerized by Carabosse's spinning wheel, Aurora touches the spindle and becomes dizzy as the Lilac Fairy's spell begins to take effect, instead of Carabosse's curse. Soon Aurora is in a deep sleep.

ACT II One hundred years later: The handsome Prince Desire from a nearby kingdom is looking for game with his hunting party. While away from his party, he meets many friendly woodland creatures and curious characters. As Prince Desire takes an afternoon nap, the Lilac Fairy visits him in a dream. She shows him where his true love sleeps. As the Prince awakens, he is confronted by the evil Carabosse and her Minions. He must defeat them all to save Aurora. Once Aurora is kissed by the Prince, the spell is broken. The story concludes with a celebration of their royal wedding, after which they lived happily ever after.

Lastly, my little brother, for coming to my shows and being willing to hang out backstage. Next year, I will be majoring in dance at Hope College, after receiving the Distinguished Artist Award. WMYB IN THE COMMUNITY

WMYB is working hard to open the world of ballet to youth and others throughout our community. We believe that everyone, young or old, should have the opportunity to enjoy this art form in one way or the other. These are some of the things that we have most recently been doing in our community.

If you are interested in offering your support of these programs, please email us at west.mi.youthballet@gmail.com.

Thanks to several generous donors, WMYB has been able to bring the love of dance and the world of Ballet to the Boys & Girls Club – Paul I. Phillips Club. This past year, WMYB sent an instructor to teach ballet technique to several children, who may not have had the opportunity to learn dance instruction. This past winter, WMYB began a 12-week dance program to continue with those interested in dance. Stephen Sanford, WMYB Artistic Director, brought several of our cast members from Sleeping Beauty to perform and mentor these young dancers. In the future, WMYB anticipates introducing segments of our productions as an integrated learning experience for the Club dancers enriching their weekly dance experience.

Thanks to the generous support of Spectrum Health, WMYB is able to live stream their Sleeping Beauty performances spanning two days to the patients and their families at Spectrum Health DeVos Children's Hospital. The WMYB dancers have been preparing these performances since February with weekly rehearsals. Rehearsing in small groups with mask wearing at all times and health screening prior to every rehearsal has been a learning process for these young dancers. We are so excited to bring the joy of Sleeping Beauty to them!

We will be live streaming to several different retirement communities to their residents who are unable to go out to these shows.
